

Coming Alive!

Poetry as A Way of Paying Attention

I don't know exactly what a prayer is.
I do know how to pay attention, how to fall down into the grass, how to kneel down in the grass, how to be idle and blessed, how to stroll through the fields which is what I have been doing all day.

from A Summer Day by Mary Oliver

SATURDAY, JUNE 17, 2017 (9:30am to 3:30pm)

Cost: $35 (includes lunch)

Reading, writing and listening to poetry can be a contemplative practice, opening us to God's presence in creation and within our own sacred depths. Poetry slows us down and lets us notice the graces of our lives. Join us for a day of reflection, creation, and deep listening. We'll savor the poems of Mary Oliver and others; have time for writing, reflecting and sharing; and spend time in quiet, with optional use of the labyrinth and Mercy's beautiful grounds.
